

ORCID Board of Directors – Nomination Form

Introduction

Starting this year, ORCID will hold member elections for positions on next year's Board. All ORCID members are eligible to have representatives serve as ORCID Directors. In addition, the Board has a slot for a researcher, who need not be affiliated with an ORCID member to serve.

All applications received will be reviewed by the ORCID Nominations Committee (NomCom), chaired by Robert Kiley of the Wellcome Trust. Full details of NomCom and the process are available on the blog post.

We will draw up a slate based on member recommendations, taking into account balance by sector, region, skills, and non-profit status requirements established in the ORCID bylaws.

Board Directors serve for a period of three years, starting with our February Board meeting. Directors are expected to attend each of our three annual Board meetings in-person, and play an active role in ORCID activities during the course of their term.

In terms of the Board meetings, applicants should be aware that they:

- usually alternate between N-America and Europe, with occasional locations in Asia and Latin America a possibility;
- typically last 1.5 days and tend to be scheduled back-to-back with ORCID-supporting engagements (e.g. workshop or outreach meeting) which will typically necessitate an additional one day commitment to ORCID;
- travel and accommodation to participate in these meetings is self-funded (with the exception of the Researcher role on the Board where travel costs are met.)

For more about the roles and responsibilities of ORCID Board Directors, please see our Elections webpage.

To be considered for a position on the ORCID Board, please complete the form overleaf and send it to: nominations@orcid.org.

Nominations must be received by 1st August 2016.
